The goal of this Space is to compare two categories of Agile plugins for JIRA. The first one is simply Gantt charts - creme de la creme of modern management tools, Gantt charts are an industry standard of managing the progress of projects. The second category is Project Portfolio Management, that is software that enables managers to have a complete overview of the whole project, including workload, assignee status, milestones, etc.

The set of criteria used is comprehensive, yet clearly stated - judged are the plugin's interface, features, configuration options, prices and support (including premium). The best product is obviously the one that exceeds in as many of these as possible.
